

Who makes the repairs?

The repairs are completed by a combination of Ryhaven staff, volunteers, licensed contractors and (where possible) the families of homeowners.

"It's empowering to get involved in the work. My husband and teenage boys have helped where they can and it gives us a real sense of achievement."

Need home repairs...

but struggling to afford them?

We can help

We are a charitable trust assisting limited-income homeowners to repair their home

About Us

Ryhaven Trust

We've identified a particular need for help in the Wellington area where many families do not have access to affordable finance to carry out home improvements.

Our charitable trust aims to assist families who own their own home but lack the resources to keep it in a reasonably habitable state.

Apply online and if your application is successful, the trust will determine the appropriate assistance required. We organise the repair work and assist homeowners to set up low-interest repayment plans.

Needs are assessed on a case-by-case basis.

"We spent years trying to 'tick the boxes' to get a bank loan but they turned us down.

Ryhaven helped us when no one else would. Their budget adviser provided an affordable repayment scheme to fit our financial situation."
